Bernard Gunther THE POWER OF MEOW

Hampton Roads, $9.95

"I have known three Zen masters in my life," writes Eckhart Tolle, "and all of them were cats." Cats are natural spiritual teachers, revered for centuries for their intuitive wisdom, magical presence and purring peacefulness. We humans, who no longer trust our natural instincts, can learn from them greatly about mind-body-spirit integration. This delightful book celebrates the joyful behavior of Rumi, the author's archetypal cat, and his simple, practical, playful wisdom.

ing than the experience known as death. In this final installment of his bestselling Conversations with God series, Walsh asks the questions that everyone has longed to ask. What is going on in this life, and what will happen when it's over? Will we be reunited with loved ones? Will God be there to greet us? Will we even know what is going on after we die? and more—and he receives the answers we have all been waiting for.

Hay House, $24.95

Ilibagiza grew up in a country she loved, surrounded by a family she cherished. But in 1994 her world was ripped apart as Rwanda descended into a bloody genocide. Miraculously she survived, huddled in a cramped bathroom for 91 days with seven other women, where she forged a profound relationship with God that enabled her to emerge with a true understanding of unconditional love — a love so strong she could seek out and forgive her family's killers. The triumphant story of this woman's journey will inspire anyone touched by fear, suffering and loss.
