REACH OUT AND TOUCH... THE SOURCE OF ALL LIFE?
New Experiential Cinema Genre Allows Viewers to Experience the Divine

The age-old debate of what exists outside of life on Earth is no longer a debate, according to Caroline Cory, producer/director and founder of OMnium Entertainment. Her new film entitled "I Am the Universe, I Am Love" is a 3D animation, all Computer Graphics in full HD short based on the exploration of the unknown worlds of the cosmos and the connection between Earth and the Divine. The film is the first in what Cory calls the new Experiential Cinema™ genre because it involves the entire brain in the absorption of energetic data in the form of images (see technical details at www.omniummedia.com). The impact of these images creates an immediate sense of relaxation and expansion while exploring the universe, thus producing a feeling of spiritual connection to the worlds beyond.

"This film is the most stunning 'story' of all of universal life and what it entails. Unbelievable and totally unique" said one viewer from California. Another stated: "Pure, multidimensional experience and a divine journey of remembering who we really are, way beyond words. Life changer!"

The mission behind this new genre is to create a style of immersive entertainment that triggers a natural inner response of becoming more spiritually awakened and connected. "My intent with this film" Cory says, "is that viewers will enjoy this new trend and format of cinema viewing and that we may, through entertainment, encourage the emergence of a society that is more altruistic, loving and spiritually evolved."

SYNOPSIS

"I Am The Universe, I Am Love" is a 3D all-CG HD short film on the multi-layered maps of the universe and consciousness. The viewer is taken on a journey through stunning visuals and breathtaking sounds of the cosmos and experiences the link between Earth and the rest of the universe. The film is a first in the "Experiential Cinema" genre, which allows the audience to become immersed in the images and sounds, bypassing the analytical and linear mind. This process results in feelings of unconditional love and oneness with the Divine, profound healing experiences, spiritual awareness and consciousness expansion.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING ABOUT THE FILM

"Saw it for the second time today. It is absolutely stunning, exciting, exhilarating, beyond words. Cells are thrilled and partying. Shivers and goose bumps all over. Pure recognition and so much more... I was bathing in a shower of pure consciousness where everything comes stunningly together in huge love and truth."

"AMAZING...! WOW! So beautiful, so powerful, so..... whatever..."

"This film is the most stunning 'story' of all of universal life and what it entails, also on earth. Unbelievable and totally unique and pure. This is a multidimensional experience and a divine journey of remembering who we really are - way beyond words. Life changer!"

"It is time to EXPERIENCE the extraordinary 'story' of Earth and human creation - in a way you have never known or seen before. This film is not to be missed!!"

"This amazing film gives a unique insight in the beauty of creation and its origin."

"This movie is revolutionary, delivering powerful, spectacular visuals of extraordinary insight together with high vibrational sound and information, creating a stunning, multi-layered, on-going experience. Just Love it!"

"When watching this movie, I felt I was remembering something that was deeply buried within me. I was deeply moved as I felt that I was reconnecting with a part of me that I had completely forgotten... It was a very profound experience of remembering and reconnecting with my true origin."

CAROLINE CORY BIO

Caroline Cory is a futurist, visionary, international speaker and author. As a child and throughout her life, Caroline has been inspired by spiritual topics focused on consciousness and the connection to the divine. Her adult career however began in the entertainment industry in the 1980'ss Caroline worked as Creative Director and Producer of many large-scale venues and corporate events (Concord Hotels, Mercedes Benz, Nike, Reebok, IBM), sporting events (NBA All Star with Michael Jordan & Charles Barkley, NFL half-time show with Joe Montana, The Goodwill Games with Michael Johnson), musical events (The millennium concert with Jean-Michel Jarre) and various events for television networks such as TBS, TNT and CNN with philanthropist Ted Turner.

Through her intensive travels, Caroline witnessed the deep struggles and pains of people around the world. Around the year 2000, she began to shift her focus towards her deeper passion and true calling: helping people navigate through the healing and awakening processes. In addition to her academic background in psychology, she created the OMnium University that offers various tools for healing and consciousness expansion and gradually began working towards making her vision for a better future and more evolved humanity a reality. Part of this vision was to fully utilize her past experience in entertainment and the performing arts and to merge it with healing, spirituality and consciousness expansion.

This vision has finally come to fruition with the creation of OMnium Entertainment, which supports Caroline's personal mission to continuously uplift the human spirit through healing and teaching while using high-end creative and artistic means. "Transformational entertainment is not just about creating awareness," Caroline says, "It is also about creating new formats, an innovative presentation style and a multi-dimensional overall experience." Established in 2012, OMnium Entertainment already contains a number of deeply profound and transformative media platforms that will be presented in 360 domes with surround vision and surround sound. It continues to grow with new products, ideas and inspiration every day.
